CANADA'S REPRESENTATION IN BALI IS NEGLIGENT

KELOWNA, BC – Canada isn't representing the science given them by qualified, nationally certified professionals says Thermografix Consulting Corporation.

Buildings and development are designed for regional temperatures so we don't impose on the atmosphere or change weather. It is the mandate of Environment Canada and the reason they supply the data. Universities, technical institutes and curriculum of the world teach today's professional to design for those temperatures. The limitation in education has been using calculators; the actual compliance of a building is never verified.

Thermografix points out the entire climate change argument is designed in a calculator and thermostat but never verified. Thermografix Consulting Corporation completed over 17,000 hours of the most advanced thermography applications in the world to take temperature out of the thermostat and calculator.

The resulting research produced new information on UV and solar radiation interaction with development on the surface of the planet. UV is in fact causing absorbent building finishes to generate extreme heat the buildings aren't designed for. Further research revealed we are reacting to the symptoms with ozone depletion using refrigeration, wasted electrical generation, wasting non renewable resources, massive GHG emissions including mercury, sulphur dioxide(acid rain) while not discussing the heat generated.

Thermografix initiated immediate dialogue with Canadian leadership based on an unprecedented environmental emergency. Canada, California and elsewhere were being knocked off the power grid treating a symptom. Thermografix reported that 100% of the wasted electrical generation could be avoided within existing law and no job loss.

It is irresponsible, negligent and criminal for Canada to represent none of this information in Bali to a world looking for this data. Bennett is alarmed and disturbed that Canada wouldn't represent the reported 100% toxicity ratio in newborns when every country has their babies being poisoned every day.

As a result of Canada's administrative decision, the US and other countries aren't aware of the same UV affecting their buildings, their babies. This is a link to a letter sent to the Western Governors and provinces regarding the UV information.

Generating heat close to boiling temperature on the surface of the planet will change air pressure and weather. It can be addressed, it just couldn't be seen. It is ridiculous to talk about Co2 trapping heat while every new building is generating extreme heat and we address the heat symptom with ozone depletion as well as more emissions.

Canada and the U.S are looking for the science to qualify immediate reduction importance, Bennett says the science is available and within existing laws, we just couldn't see it. This is the biggest urgency facing the world NOW, we have a 100% toxicity and a death sentence for our children.
